

Crank it up

May 26th, 2017

|

Paula Burch-Celentano pburch@tulane.edu

View PDF

Terry McAfee, a post doc researcher in the physics department, prepares to start the Automatic Continuous Online Monitoring Polymerization system in the lab of Professor Wayne Reed on Friday in the Merryl and Sam Israel, Jr. Environmental Sciences Building. The system, also known as ACOMP, continuously measures the physical and chemical properties of polymers.