

Undergraduate Students Take On The Annual Undergraduate Poster Session

October 11th, 2024

|

Caitlyn Jacobs

View PDF

Tulane SSE Undergraduate Students participate each year in the Annual Poster Session. This session gives students the opportunity to showcase creativity, research excellence, and overall incredible work! The 2024 session has just come to a close, and we are excited to announce the winners and thank all participants for their significant contributions to the academic community.

First Place (Tie)

- Ifeoma Osakwe for her poster: "Muscle Nuclear Density in Cancer Cachexia and Aging Across Sexes in Drosophila"
- Joshua Barkin for his poster: "Post-Treatment of DTP-cells Reveals Drug Effectiveness in Ovarian Cancer"

Second Place

- Brian Giles

Third Place

- Emma Meyer

Other awards:

Most Creative

- Isaiah Epstein-Bagneris

Best Prototype

- Aaron Gershkovich

Community Outreach Award

- Laura Devlin Lacavaro

Outstanding Field Work

- Lily House, Josh Breer, and Crystal Ni for their group presentation

Best Presentation

- Sivaani Anandkumar

Again, we want to thank all students who participated in the 2024 Annual Poster Session. Tulane SSE can't wait to see what groundbreaking work students will discover for next year. Congratulations to all of these students for their achievements!

And a big thank you to the School of Science and Engineering Student Government and specifically its Vice President, Abigail Huddleston, for setting up this event!